

1 Batterymarch Park, Quincy, MA 02169-7471

John Q. Sample
Executive Sales Director
FIRE PROTECTION CONSULTANT CO.
123 Main Street
Anytown, MA 01234-5678

Dear John Q. Sample:

You have a tough and responsible job. People's lives are in your hands. Property protection systems are part of many of your projects. Clients and colleagues ask you questions all the time that require you to have access to the latest and sometimes previous editions of NFPA® codes and standards.

Many times your clients, colleagues or compliance officers don't have the current editions of the codes in question. This makes discussions difficult. Would it make your life easier if you were able to provide your clients and colleagues with the current or previous edition for review without it costing you a penny? Of course it would.

So, how do you provide these different services in a timely and cost effective manner? And since about 25% of all codes change every year, how can you be sure that you have the latest editions?

That's what NFPA's National Fire Codes® Subscription Service (NFCSS) is all about – giving you the ability to provide the services that your clients and colleagues need and the instant code access that you need. NFCSS will keep you up-to-date on the nearly 300 NFPA codes and standards. So you can devote your energies to your work instead of worrying about code violations because your codes are out of date.

"The Subscription Service just gives us one less thing to think about. We don't have to worry whether we're using the latest edition of the standards because they're always up-to-date. So, it's very convenient. The search feature is super-efficient to find information quickly"

Dave Hague, P.E., CFPS, CET
Manager, Technical Engineering
Liberty Mutual Property, Weston, MA

In today's fast-moving environment you're probably on the road a lot. That's where the electronic version shines. You can have 24/7 online access to NFPA codes and standards and you can download PDFs of entire codes and standards for offline access.

(over, please...)

"People ask me code-related questions every day, and to give them the right answers, I need access to all the NFPA® codes and standards. There's no room for guesswork and that's why I subscribe to this service."

Thomas W. Jaeger, P.E.
President, Jaeger & Associates, LLC
Great Falls, VA

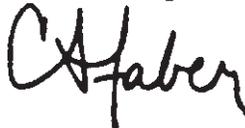

If you're like Mr. Jaeger and need immediate access to NFPA codes and standards, what do you do? Do you buy them all? No, you don't need to. With NFCSS you get access to the entire library of about 300 standards and you never have to worry about staying current or buying updates. Peace of mind.

And you can share your codes and standards with clients and colleagues by sending them a link to NFCSS code content that is available for 48 hours. That way you're all on the same page. What a great way to improve communications with them!

With the User Notes feature you can save information about specific code issues for future reference. Let NFCSS remember for you. And for project related work, your clients will be impressed that you remembered their issues.

To start your NFC Subscription Service simply mail back the enclosed Activation form, subscribe online at nfpacatalog.org or just call us toll free at 1-800-344-3555. It's easy.

Cordially,

C.A. Faber
Director
National Fire Codes® Subscription Service

P.S. Your NFCSS gives you worldwide instant access to all up-to-date NFPA codes and standards. And if you are not satisfied, let us know within 30 days and you will get a full refund. No risk.

What users are saying about NFCSS

"...the NFC Subscription Service gives our field and technical engineers access to today's most current standards. As soon as new code editions are issued, we're using them."

— Charles Bauroth, P.E., CSP, ARM
Account Engineering Manager, Liberty Mutual Property, Weston, MA

"We need codes and standards that are well thought out, practical and effective. The NFC Subscription Service delivers complete, up-to-date codes to our staff in a timely and easy manner, so our staff can bring the latest information to our clients."

— Pete Willse, P.E., Director of Research
GE Global Asset Protection Services
Hartford, CT

"It's essential to have the current codes and standards as soon as they come out, and the Subscription Service is the easiest and most efficient way to stay on top of all the National Fire Codes®. The Electronic format provides great flexibility, particularly when I'm doing work outside the office. I can go on the road with all the documents on hand."

— William Koffel, P.E., FSFPE
Koffel Associates, Inc., Elkridge, MD

SUBSCRIBE NOW! IT'S EASY

- ☐ Mail the enclosed Activation Form
- ☐ Subscribe in seconds at nfpacatalog.org or
- ☐ For fastest service, just call us at 1-800-344-3555

National Fire Protection Association®
1 Batterymarch Park
Quincy, MA 02169-7471

NFPA® and National Fire Codes® are registered trademarks of the National Fire Protection Association, Quincy, MA 02169.

For purposes and limitations of NFPA codes and standards, see Important Notices and Disclaimers Concerning NFPA Documents at www.nfpa.org/disclaimers.

THE EASY WAY TO STAY UP-TO-CODE

The National Fire Codes®
Subscription Service
saves you time and money
while automatically
keeping your codes current

You Change. Codes and Standards change. Let NFCSS help keep you compliant.

Instant access to all NFPA® codes and standards. Electronic NFCSS automatically updates the Codes. You don't need to.

You know change is the only constant. So it's no surprise that NFPA codes and standards change constantly in response to technology and as new hazards are recognized and new initiatives are implemented to protect lives and property. Since we, the NFPA, develop and update these codes and standards, we know how formidable a task it is for you to stay current with the latest editions and stay compliant. Your subscription to the National Fire Codes® Subscription Service keeps you up to date.

You get the updates before anyone else when you use the Electronic* version of NFCSS. It's user friendly.

You can get alerts anytime a code changes if you sign up for RSS feeds.

Your Subscription Includes:

Nearly 300 codes and standards developed through industry consensus by experts in each area. They are widely referenced throughout the U.S. and around the world. Among the most in-demand are:

- ❑ NFPA 1: Fire Code
- ❑ NFPA 30: Flammable and Combustible Liquids Code
- ❑ NFPA 54: National Fuel Gas Code
- ❑ NFPA 70®: National Electrical Code®
- ❑ NFPA 70E®: Standard for Electrical Safety in the Workplace®
- ❑ NFPA 99: Standard for Health Care Facilities
- ❑ NFPA 101®: Life Safety Code®

Why Subscribe?

Economics

If your work affects the safety of the public and the protection of property from fires and other hazards you will need to reference NFPA codes and standards at some point. Which ones? Who knows for sure? Unless your work is very routine in a single area of expertise you will need access to many NFPA codes and standards.

Do you keep buying NFPA documents as the need arises and then buy the updates when they change, which they will? Since 25% of the codes change each year, this can become expensive and absorb a lot of your time. Time that could be spent working. So buying and updating standards is not a good use of your time.

You can gain access to all NFPA documents with NFCSS, and they are automatically updated without any action on your part. This makes NFCSS very attractive economically, and whenever you access a Code, you know it is the current edition. Peace of mind.

Client and Colleague Access

When you are working with clients, colleagues or others that are not NFCSS subscribers, wouldn't it be great if you could grant them access to the code content you are using on a project? Well, with electronic NFCSS you can send them a link available for 48 hours to access the code content. What a great way to improve communications with them!

Ease of Retrieving Information

You know how difficult and time consuming it can be to find the information you need in hard copy codes. With the electronic version of NFCSS you can perform searches and find exactly what you want almost instantly. How would that improve your performance?

You do need an internet connection to access the code but, since you can download a PDF of the code, you can take the codes you need to places that do not have internet connections and still access the code and search it. You can even print copies and cut, copy, and paste content for use by yourself and inclusion in reports.

You can also make client or project specific notes using the User Notes feature that you can save for future work with that client.

Your electronic NFCSS with automatic updates will be available anywhere in the world.

Get your NFC subscription today at NFPAcatalog.org or return the enclosed card or just call us at 1-800-344-3555

You'll be glad you did.

*NFPA recommends Internet Explorer 6.0 or Firefox 2.0 (or higher). Some features may not behave as intended with other browsers

National Fire Protection Association
The authority on fire, electrical, and building safety

1 BATTERYMARCH PARK
QUINCY, MA 02169-7471

Your Fire Codes Notification
Open Now